Will come out today. Also for Linux

Fixes the common problem that you get kicked by RG if you have RG installed, and introduces serial hash banning by brenbot, and adds the !rglocate command to brenbot.

The linux versions will work this time, as well as the "slow irc output" issue fixed.

Nightma14what about ip baning?

IP banning is inferior to Serial banning.

An ip you could possibly change within 5 minutes, a serial number, you cant , so after today i hope we can permanently ban those fucktards from our 'loved-renegade-network'

I can change my serial number in about 10 seconds.

It already takes more than 10 second just to reinstall the game...

Sigh,

i know its possible to change your Encrypted Serial, i just tend to not share this and just say its not possible. Now , for the readers of this topic who dont know yet, will probably look for it now. Very nice gibberish.

The lazy people wont look for stuff they believe is not possible, they will look for it once someone reveiled it IS possible.

We have been here before, if you don't want information shared don't post anything about it. If I know some information is incorrect I will correct it.

Additionally if I can figure it out so can someone else so theres some chance they would have corrected you too.

There is no security through obscurity, it just means a larger number of "Good people" are vulnerable to a smaller number of "Bad People".

We've been running BrenBot 1.33 wSCC 1.0 since RenGuards release.
A few server lock-ups since may not be related, but,
Is it recommended to replace it with 1.34 / SCC 1.01?

Yes its recommended.
You can continue run the SSC but you have to disable the RenGuard module which comes integrated with BRenBot 1.34 by doing: !set RenGuard off from IRC.

BRenBot 1.34 not only includes RenGuard support, also alot of bugfixes have been applied in this version.
